For the past few days Chief of Police Killourey has been busy send-ing out notices that sidewalks in Willimantic must be cleared of the snow that has been reposing on them for the past ten days. It was stated Monday that several who had receiv-ed such notices from the department had made no effort to carry out the instructions given in the orders. The past two days have been such that the surface of the snow and ice has the surface of the show and ice has been softened so that with a little el-bow-grease little difficulty would be experienced in ridding the sidewalks of all show and ice that might have accumulated during the several storms. Chief Killourcy feels that sufficient time has expired since the notices were first sent out, and if no attempt is made to clear the snow today (Tuesday) all negligent citizens will receive a summons to ap-pear before the court to explain why they have failed to use the shovel or gree by DeSoto lodge of that city. This degree will be exemplified by a team of high degree. The members from the local lodge will join members of King David Lodge, of Manchester, in making the trip.

At the next meeting of Willimantic Chamber of Commerce to be held on March 2. Peter W. Collins of Boston is to be the honored guest at the supper at the chamber rooms, and will briefly address the members. Shortly before 3 o'clock the meeting at the chamber rooms will be adjourned and the members will go to the glate armory on Pleasant street where Mr. Collins will deliver an address on What Is the Matter With the World Today? This meeting will be public, as the committee in charge to the meeting feels that Mr. Collins' address will be of educational value to every adult of Willimantic. Mr. Collins is perhaps ans well able to deliver an address, on the subject he has chosen as is any other person in this country. His knowledge of socialism as it exists today, and has been known in the past, is demonstrated by the fact that he was summoned last week by the government as an expert, to appear before the legislative committee of the state of New York, in connection with the trial of the five socialist members of that body who had been expelled. Mr. Collins' testimony in this trial showed clearly his knowledge of the dangers of bolshevism, and demonstrated his own stamp of Americanism, Mr. Collins is now actively engaged in finding jobs for ex-service men, in his office as director general of the reconstructional employment service under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus.

The following members of the Willimantic post office force attended the Connecticut Letter Carriers' convention he'd at Bristol Monday 'fterpoon: Cyprien Paulhus, Clarence O. Barrows, Clarence C. Constable Thomas Killourey served two attachments on John Maheu of No. 7 Main street. Monday noon, in civil suits brought by the Rood Brossof Windham for money alleged due them for milk. One of the suits was brought as an individual by George Rood who claimed $100 due him personally out of the $200 damages mentioned in the suit. The second claim is for $50, damages of $75 being asked by Horace and Alfred Rood under the firm name of Rood Brothers. The case is returnable before Justice of the Peace Curt's Dean, Saturday morning, March $6, at $9 c'clock. The property attached by Constable Killourey consisted of two milk wagons, a horse and a set of harness owned by the defendant.

A meeting of the membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce was held Monday night at their rooms on Main street. The meeting was called to order shortly before 8 o'-clock and the names of several new candidates for membership were read and accepted. The meeting adjourned soon after transacting a few other items of business and the committee joined the other members of the chamber in the recreation room where Fred B. Hall, world's greatest pool player and fancy shot artist, was giving an exhibition of his skill. Mr. Hall had about 100 fancy shots up his sleeve and pulled them off to perfection. His exhibition of pool playing in selecting one pocket in which he would pocket every ball, was well worth seeing. There was a large attendance of members of the chamber at the hall to witness the work of Mr. Hall. A meeting of the membership com-

Killourey and Yardmaster Edward McSweeney, met the train and persuaded the men to hand over the price of their fares. In addition to the train fare the Hartford men who were somewhat intoxicated, handed over $2.50 in payment for the window they had smashed when showing their determination not to come across with

Why Acid-Stomach Causes So Much Bad Health

Many people seem to think that acid-stomach is of little importance; that it merely causes some sight trouble such as belching, heartburn, sour, gassy stemach, food-repeating, bloat, etc.

If those same people would only realize the real truth about acid-stemach and when these first symptoms appear would at once start to get rid of them, what a crushing load of awful suffering, misery and ill-health would be lifted from mankind!

Do you realize that the ill effects of an acid-Do you realize that the ill effects of an acid-stomach extend throughout the entire system and more or less affect practically every organ and tissue of the human body? Well, it's a fact. For that matter, few people realize that one of the chief causes of tooth decay is a tasteless acid that forms in the mouth—acid-mouth the dentists call it. And so with acid-stomach— you can't always feel its actual presence but it keeps right on creating serious damage throughout the entire system nevertheless. For instance, probably few people-would ever think that there could he any connection between an acid-stomach and dandruff and falling hair; or between an acid-stomach and a gouty foot.

Nevertheless there is a direct connection. Nevertheless there is a direct connection. Acid-stomach interferes with digestion and essentiation. It causes the food to ferment.

indigestion, that miserable bloated feeling after eating, heartburn, beiching, food-repeating, etc.

Now of course the right thing to do is to get rid of the acid-stomach so that the food will be properly digested. Nature will do the rest. There is a quick and easy way to do this. A wonderful new discovery makes it possible to remove acid-stomach without the slightest discomfort. It is called EATONIO, made in the form of tablets—they are good to est—just like

SHORTAGE OF SILVER TO MEET DEMANDS OF TRADE

London, Feb. 7.—Use of the silver standard in oriental countries, coupled with the enormous commercial expan-sion now in progress between the west and the east, indicates that there is an immense shortage of silver to meet the demands of trade, says the Ameri-can Chamber of Compresse in London can Chamber of Commerce in London. One result of this shortage, says the American chamber, is that American and Mexican silver mines may look forward confidently to an era of un-precedented prosperity for many years to come. Silver, it is understood, must also be found to back over $30,000,000,000,000 worth of paper money issues floating in Europe today, in addition to which America's increasing volume of trade with India and China calls for almost unlimited supplies of the

The United States and Mexico furnish nearly three-fourths of world's yearly output of silver, larger portion coming from the United States. ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE STRAND.

The Strand has arranged for a special holiday program of the bigger and better sort. This program appeals to all. Armstrong and Downey have a very clever comeany bieyele variety act that has gone over big. There is some very clever bieyele riding and comic tricks in this act. Fields and Maxwell appeared in their own original sketch entitled The Estitle of Bay Rum. This act is of a different comedy novelty. Special scenery is used. The Four Arrans is a whole family full of entertainment. Father, mother and children are in this act. The youngsters in this act have the makings of artists at their profession. This act received a great deal of applaure which they were surely entitled to. Earle Williams, the screen's favorite, was shown in Winchell Smith's celebrated stage play entitled The Fortune Hunter. This is a seven-part epecial production. THE STRAND.

The swirling city is too busy to give many people time to think. So it's not uncommon that when a city man goes to a small town he begins to think and becomes somewhat of a philosopher. Nathaniei Dunham, played by Earle Williams, was no exception to the rule. It was true that Josie Lockwood was

It was true that Josie Lockwood was very pretty, and no one questioned her being the richest girl in town. And from all indications she was very much in love with Dunham.

Then there was Betty Graham, played by Jean Paige. Dunham could read volumes and volumes of unspoken words in the depth of her sparkling, worshipful eyes. Brown eyes, they were. Rich and deep and calm and secretive Dunham watched those eyes. secretive. Dunham watched those eyes and mused on them much like one looks on the inscrutable Sphinx, wendering what lies behind the calm, immovable, mask-like face that hides the secrets of the ages.

But the test decided the matter.

When he was arrested on a charge of grand larceny Josie Lockwood showed her colors in ways unmistakable. She didn't wait to investigate if the charges were true, but forthwith launched a train of invectives that an old sea-dog might have envied.
But Betty Graham was different and she—do see The Fortune Hunter. It's wonderful! A Gaumont Weekly will close the Strand's special show.

Cosmo Hamilton, the author of many successful novels and plays, has written a deep and searching study of hu-man beings entitled The Miracle of Love, the big seven-part special fea-ture at the Davis today.

Mr. Hamilton is the author of The Elindness of Virtue and of Scandal, the latter now running to packed houses in New York. His stories are Blindness of Virtue and of Scandal, the latter now running to packed houses in New York. His stories are distinguished, by vigorous action, strong drama and accurate realism. The Miracle of Love is his best story. It has been produced by Cosmopolitan Films with an lai-star cast, including Lucy Cotton, Jackie Saunders and Wyndham Standing. All three have been seen in many big productions, and their work is known to you. Furthermore, the picture is a Paramount-Arteraft special production. You know what that means. Something that is really worth while.

Luxurious costuming, rich settings

Luxurious costuming, rich settings and rapid action characterize this picture. The story is laid in England, the characters are of the English upper class. Mr. Hamilton, an English-man, knows the circles of which he writes as few authors do. And sumptuous presentation has been giv-en his story. Better see it today. The second big feature on this bill is Ethel Clayton's new Deadly Than the Male. It was adapted from a story that appeared in a popular fiction magazine recently and corterns a clever scheme by which to prevent the man for whom she secretly cared from going to South Africa in search for adventure. Louise Far-enda, the world's funniest woman, will be the third feature in The Star Boarder, a Sennett comedy that has more laughs in half an hour than all other comedies put together. Don't

DAVIS THEATRE.

What is the happy ending of Maytime, the phenomenal musical success to be seen at Davis theatre Thuhsday night, Feb. 25th? In the world of today, as it seems, the hope of personal immortality is fading—of a heaven that will give us all that earth denied, but many in whom hope still springs unquanchable look forward to immortality of a sort in their children and tality of a sort in their children and their children's children. In the first act of Maytime the youthful lovers, Ottillie and Dick, plant a seedling apple tree beneath the blossoms of which, as they hope, their children which, as they hope, their children will live for generations. In the following acts the tree is seen maturing, aging, and finally dead. But no children of theirs dance beneath it. There are children, however, a young Dick and a young Ottilie. In the last act they are of the age at which their grandparents loved and parted—and are, of course, played by the same actors, who having matured and grown old before our eyes, are young once old before our eyes, are young once more, in the dress and manners of to-day. There will be a chorus of lovely girls. Seat sale opens today at 16 a. m.

The Walk-Offs, a Screen Classic, Inc., adaptation of the famous Broadway stage success by Frederick and Fanny Hatton, will be the feature at-traction at the Breed theatre today, with the beautiful May Allison in the traction at the Breed theatre today, with the beautiful May Allison in the stellar role. It is a play with a rich society background and is said to have been mounted for the screen with a most lavish display in fashionable gowns and settings. May Allison appears in the role of Kathleen Rutherford, a beautiful young society woman who is much dissatisfied with the empty life she is leading. Her fortunes are at a low cub because her brother has been divorced by his only means of support. The brother altempts to persunde Kathleen to marry a wealthy society man to mend both their fortunes, but she does not love him. In the studio of an artist Kathleen meets a wealthy young Kertuckian who detests her social breed but falls in love with her. He adents the "cave-mannish" style in his woolng and the struggle that results between these two beings from securate social worlds is tense and absorbing.

Other pictures on the bill include She Loved a Nut a Mack Sennett comedy, and the Pathe News.
